

Adam Bacchus

Houston, TX | 18328447118 | bacchus.adam@gmail.com | www.linkedin.com/in/adam-bacchus-950a9b210 | github.com/adamPlusPlus

Professional Summary

Senior Program Manager with 6+ years of experience leading multiple technical projects and managing software development portfolios. Proven ability to manage program-level initiatives, organize and coordinate cross-functional teams, and ensure strategic alignment with organizational goals. Expertise in portfolio management, budget management, risk management, and stakeholder communication, with strong technical understanding of Python, C#, and software development. Track record of improving team efficiency through process optimization and managing budgets effectively. Led company to successful acquisition, demonstrating strategic business outcomes.

Skills

- Programming Languages: Python, C#, C++
- Program & Portfolio Management: Program Management, Portfolio Management, Strategic Planning, Budgeting, Resource Allocation, Risk Management, KPI Alignment, Stakeholder Communication
- Project Management: Agile, Scrum, SDLC, Multiple Project Management, Cross-functional Team Management
- Tools & Technologies: Git, Trello, Linux CLI, SQL, Data Analytics
- Other: Business Strategy, Process Optimization, Remote Team Coordination, Quality Assurance

Professional Experience

Software Development Project Manager at Ser: April 2022 - Present

- Organized and managed program-level portfolio of multiple software development projects, coordinating multiple concurrent projects
- Led cross-functional teams across multiple projects, coordinating technical requirements and ensuring strategic alignment with business objectives
- Managed program-level resource allocation and project-related expenses, ensuring projects stayed within budget while maintaining 20% surplus across portfolio
- Collaborated with executive stakeholders to understand and document program requirements and strategic objectives
- Identified potential risks impacting program success and developed mitigation strategies, maintaining 100% on-time delivery
- Implemented program-level process improvements and Agile methodologies, resulting in 50% improvement in team efficiency
- Managed remote and offshore development teams across multiple time zones and projects, ensuring effective communication and coordination

Software Development Project Manager at Avabyte: April 2018 - April 2022

- Managed multiple engineering projects simultaneously (7 concurrent applications), including scheduling, budgeting, and resource management
- Developed and tracked Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) to monitor program progress and alignment with organizational goals
- Addressed resource constraints proactively across portfolio, ensuring projects stayed on schedule and within budget
- Ensured program deliverables met quality standards and technical specifications, maintaining thorough project documentation
- Led software development lifecycle (SDLC) processes from requirements gathering through deployment across multiple projects
- Coordinated with technical teams to resolve complex issues and ensure timely delivery across program

Project Lead at Shuffleware: November 2017 - December 2018

- Directed the entire product lifecycle for five applications, from ideation to launch
- Led cross-functional teams of up to 10 people, delegating tasks effectively and monitoring progress
- Collaborated with stakeholders to ensure comprehensive understanding of project requirements
- Managed investor relations and acquired funding from individual investors
- Led the portfolio to successful acquisition by Avabyte, resulting in expanded responsibilities and team growth

Education

Bachelor of Science in Computer Science

University of Houston – Houston, TX Minor: Mathematics

Certifications

PMP (Project Management Professional) — PMI, August 2026